

Unique Plan For Stabilizing Hill

University Dean of Engineers To Conduct Tests at Calgary

Dr. R. M. Hardy, dean of engineering at the University of Alberta, will be consulting engineer for a unique experiment.

The internationally-known soils expert leaves Edmonton for Calgary soon to work on the Sunnyside Hill electrosmosis experiment.

TO STABILIZE HILL. Experiment will be used to stabilize collapsing hill banks which are threatening to slide and damage many Calgary North Hill homes.

If the experiment is successful, it is expected that a $20,000 house moving scheme proposed to remove residents from danger of sliding soil will not be necessary.

Electrosmosis stabilizes soil by forcing drainage of water by passage of an electric current (between six and 10 volts) through the soil between electrodes placed at appropriate intervals.

The current causes water to drain into water pipes especially set in the soil during the experiment.

REMOVE EXCESS WATER. Removal of such excess water will create a semi-dry barrier on the face of the Calgary hill.

Dr. Hardy has stated that the experiment, being tried for the first time in North America, is still in the nature of a research project, as far as Calgary situation is concerned.

If it is successful, the electrosmosis apparatus will be permanently established on Sunnyside hill. Experiment was discovered in wartime by a German scientist to prevent mud from interfering with building of submarine pens.

Auto Dealers Assn. Holds Convention

Convention of Northern Alberta Automobile Dealers' Association and the Edmonton Dealer Group was held in the Masonic Temple Wednesday.

Guests were officials of the Federation of Automobile Dealer Associations of Canada.

A dinner meeting was held in the Temple in the evening.

Canadians Are More Generous

Canadians are much more conscious of the relief needs of Europe than their United States cousins, according to M. L. Smith of New York.

Mr. Smith is educational director for the Committee for American Remittances to Europe, a general organization for the mass dispensing of food parcels to Europe.

He arrived in Edmonton today. During the last year, Mr. Smith said, Canadians sent over $1,000,000 worth of parcels to Europe while the amount from the more populous U.S. was $3,500,000.

Accompanied by W. B. Melvin of Ottawa, Mr. Smith is presently touring Canada to encourage the sending of parcels to Europe.

He is particularly interested in meeting teachers' federations and groups to encourage the sending of parcels and an exchange of correspondence between Canadian and European teachers.

Parcels sent from Canada through the organization are made up from goods purchased in Canada and therefore the Canadian U.S. dollar position is not jeopardized in any way, Mr. Smith said.

Court Of Revision Disallows Appeals

City commissioners sitting as a court of revision of 1948 assessments did not allow a single appeal of 120 heard Wednesday and today.

A total of 247 appeals are listed for hearing by the court.

In 11 appeals the commissioners ordered re-inspection of the properties.

LITTLE GIRL ACCIDENTALLY SHOT IN HEAD

Wounded in the back of the head while gopher shooting Wednesday, six-year-old Madeleine Werner is in the University hospital.

She was brought from her home near Rocky Mountain House.

ICMPC said the girl was accidentally shot by her uncle.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Sarah Werner.

Hospital authorities here said the youngster's condition "is not good."

X-Ray Units Leave For Field Work

Mobile X-ray units of the Edmonton Chest X-ray service closed operations at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday night.

Unit number one will move to Ledue, May 31, where it will operate until June 10, then will move to Millet.

Unit number two will operate in Perryville, May 28; Colinton, May 29-June 2; Boyle, June 3-7; Athabasca, June 8-12; Grosmont, June 14; June 15; Slave Lake, June 18.

During the Edmonton clinic, 89,431 X-rays were given and clinics were conducted at 50 different locations throughout the city.

To May 31, 85,938 films had been interpreted which revealed a total of 66 probable active cases of TB, and 695 probable inactive cases.

Other abnormalities discovered totalled 1,117.

$50,000 Fire Damage To Oil Sands Plant

An estimated $50,000 damage by fire was caused when a blaze from an unknown source destroyed the machine shop at Oil Sands Ltd. pilot plant at Bitumont on Monday.

Premier Ernest Manning said today the destroyed building was not a part of the test plant itself and was completely covered by insurance.

The accident occurred at the intersection of 111 avenue and St. Albert Trail.

Driver of the truck was John Karanlan, 11045 129 street.

He was awaiting further information from the north before it would be known if the destruction of the building would stop the plant from a projected 12-month test run due to start in June or July.

The plant was erected with government-backing by Oil Sands Ltd., to test the commercial feasibility of extracting petroleum and petroleum products from the oil-laden tar sands on the banks of the Athabasca river.

It was recalled that Dominion government efforts to establish similar plants had met with fire disaster on two occasions, just as the plants were ready to start operations.

The provincial government has appropriated more than $200,000 for construction of the plant, but has filed a statement of claim against Oil Sands Ltd. for recovery of the original $200,000. It is expected to come for trial in June.

Bank Clearings. Edmonton bank clearings for the week ending Thursday totalled $12,406,448. For the corresponding period a year ago clearings were $10,879,219.

A pint of water and a pint of alcohol mixed take up less space than two pints, but this is because the molecules of each liquid are closer together.

11-YEAR-OLD BOY BRUISED

Eleven-year-old Donald Bile, 12912-112 avenue, suffered shock and bruises when knocked from his bicycle by a truck about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The accident occurred at the intersection of 111 avenue and St. Albert Trail.

Driver of the truck was John Karanlan, 11045 129 street.

City Donations. Swell Fund In Cancer Fight. Collections for the Conquer Cancer Campaign totalled $17,872.32 Wednesday.

Donors of $10 or over were: Alberta Brewers' Agents Ltd., $200; Employees' Swift Canadian Company, $200; A. Friesen, $100; Employees' Edmonton Post Office, $17.25; Loyalist Women's Institute, $14.25; Employees' F. W. Woolworth Company, $27.55; Employees' H. J. Marks Co. Ltd., $11; Norwood Sheet Metal Works, $10.

PRAYER SHAWLS were donned by thousands of devout Jews throughout the world who gathered to give thanks and read from the Talmud in synagogues following announcement recently of creation of a Jewish national homeland in Palestine.

NORTH BAKER RAPPED FOR UIC OFFENCE

First case in Northern Alberta of an employer refusing to pay unemployment insurance rates was reported from High Prairie Thursday.

Calvin G. Holt, a High Prairie baker, appeared in district court, charged with refusing to produce any wage records for Unemployment Insurance Commission officials.

Pleading not guilty before Magistrate J. W. Bissell, Mr. Holt spoke in his own defence. He stated that he did not see why he had to contribute to a fund from which, as an employer, he did not receive any benefits.

Convicted after the hearing, Mr. Holt was fined $5 and costs and was cautioned by the magistrate to obey the regulations of the Unemployment Insurance Act.

Mercy Flight Wings North

A mercy flight to take medical aid to an Indian agent at a lake 60 miles north of Fort Vermilion took off from Cooking Lake near Edmonton today.

The float-equipped RCAF Norseman aircraft, piloted by P.O. Jack Jaworski, with Cpl. A. W. McLeod as crewman, is taking Dr. J. H. Rioselle of Charles Cammell Indian Hospital here, to the lake to render medical treatment.

The Indian agent is suffering from a badly injured foot and may have to be flown to Edmonton.

The aircraft will refuel at Jack Jaworski and a guide will be picked up at Fort Vermilion to lead the plane to the unnamed lake.

It is expected to return to Cooking Lake at 4 p.m. today.

Fort Vermilion is about 450 miles north of Edmonton.

Higher Production Is Ultimate Aim

Higher industrial production through labor-management committees is being sought by H. R. Rutherford, department of labor, Ottawa, who arrived in Edmonton today.

Mr. Rutherford plans to discuss the creation of such committees with provincial government, labor and management officials during the next several days while staying in Edmonton.

Considerable encouragement for setting up labor-management committees has been received from the provincial government, Mr. Rutherford said.

A complete vote of confidence was given to Alexander Culhoun, chairman of the Alberta Library Board, Wednesday by the Alberta Library Association during the fifth annual conference of the organization, held in the University of Alberta Library.

In a unanimously-carried resolution, the conferring group stated: "In view of unfavorable criticism and comment appearing in Alberta newspapers regarding Mr. Culhoun's inspection of the Medicine Hat Library, this Association expresses complete confidence in his professional competence and integrity."

John Macdonald, U. of A. Dean of Arts and Sciences, opened the morning session of the conference with an address of welcome to the delegates who had come from all points of the province.

Richard MacDonald, co-ordinator of cultural activities, department of economics, urged the assembled librarians to increase their stocks of reference books.

Concluding speaker W. H. Castle, of Calgary, voiced opposition to privately-endowed libraries. He said that "if a library is to be properly developed, it must be government-administered."

Battle Deposits New Layer Soil

In most cases it has benefited the land.

Bird-Egg Collectors Seek New Specimens

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, May 27.—W. E. Griffie, lumberman from Portland, Oregon, and Thomas Randall, of Brooks are spending ten days in the district looking for birds' eggs and nests. Mr. Griffie has a very large private collection at his home in Portland and has given many interesting specimens to the museums.

He says that there are many unusual birds here and he hopes to take back specimens that he has not had before for there never has been any organized collecting done here.

He drove up, accompanied by his wife, daughter and sister-in-law, Mrs. H. G. Shadd of Wisconsin. The ladies stayed a few hours, then went to visit in Edmonton and Calgary. Mr. Griffie says that the roads were not too bad, rough in a number of places but considering the year, much better than he expected. It is the first trip to Canada for his party.

Mr. Randall, whose wife taught school here six years ago, has spent considerable time in the district. He was with Ducks Unlimited in the northern part of the three prairie provinces for a number of years and now lives at Brooks. He and Mr. Griffie have corresponded for years and when Mr. Griffie wrote that he planned a holiday trip to look for nests and eggs, Mr. Randall urged him to come to Rocky, promising him many specimens.

They expect to find yellowlegs, pilated woodpeckers, sawwhet and pikey owls, which will be new not only to Mr. Griffie but to other collectors in the United States. Mr. Randall says that the musk country here is very suitable to many birds that are not common in other parts. They are going out to Crimson Lake, ten miles northwest, and will make that their headquarters.

Sisters Re-United After Many Years

After a separation of 34 years, two sisters, Mrs. Susanna Williams, 12909 127 street, and Mrs. Katherine Webb, Granite City, Ill., were re-united Saturday at the home of Mrs. Williams.

Prior to last Saturday, the sisters had not seen each other since the fall of 1914, when Mrs. Williams left Granite City to come to Edmonton and help her husband manage their new farm.

Both sisters married American steelworkers at Granite City, but while Mr. Webb stayed at that occupation until his retirement, Mr. Williams became a farmer ever since he came to Canada.

Harrisburg, Pa., was the birthplace of both. Mrs. Webb, born Katherine McGeever in 1884, and her younger sister, Mrs. Williams, born Susanna McGeever in 1888.

Although the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Williams had never seen their aunt, they had no difficulty in finding "Aunt Kate" at the bus station. The sisters have always exchanged many photographs and letters until 10 years ago when Mrs. Williams suffered a stroke which left her partially paralyzed.

Tourist Boom Looms Large

Interest in Alberta's tourist attractions are running high in the United States.

R. R. Moore, deputy minister of economic affairs, revealed today that enquiries from 548 individuals had been received by the province's tourist bureau.

This does not include those who write for travel folders or other literature on tourist attractions. Nor does it include requests for information from travel agencies or chambers of commerce.

The flood of enquiries is "heavy for this time of year," Mr. Moore indicated.

The tourist bureau also forwards regular up-to-date information to the "Ask Mr. Foster" offices in principal American cities. These offices provide a source of information for enquiries of almost any type.

Health Minister For Ottawa Meet

Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, Alberta minister of health, is expected to be Alberta's representative at a Dominion-provincial conference to be held in Ottawa, June 7 and 8.

Dr. Cross, on holiday until June 2, told The Bulletin before he left he would not comment on the Dominion's health project until he had attended the conference in Ottawa, which he did not expect would be held until the federal budget had been approved by the House of Commons.

It's Thrills Galore As Circus Opens Here

To the tune of traditional trumpets and all the fanfare that thrills the heart of every youngster, the Shriners Circus came to Edmonton Wednesday for a four-day stand.

And there isn't a kiddie in Edmonton who shouldn't be treated to the Circus this year.

The combined efforts of the Edmonton Rotary and Shrine organizations have brought to the city one of the finest pieces of entertainment offered for sometime.

With skill, daring and comedy, the Shrine Circus is enough to make anyone forget their worries and thrill to the efforts of performers.

THREE RINGS
With three rings in full operation almost continually, one has a difficult time keeping track of all the tanking acts.

And they are all good! From the opening Processional Pageant, featuring the entire Circus company, to the thrilling wind-up by the renowned Hannaford family of daredevil horseback riders, the show is one glorious moment after another.

There is, of course, the circus-would-never-be-the-same-without-clowns. The graceful feminine stars of the cloud swing, Eva May and Corrine.

And there are the feats of skill by Bert Deano and Paul Velarde on tight and slack wires. And the almost-human dog show. Then Roland Tieber's talented seals.

And Judy, the educated elephant.

THRILLS ABOUND
And there are scores more entertainers who could thrill any audience for hours.

And the entertainment is not confined to kiddies.

The show would thrill a person of any age.

So don't be left out. Make sure you get your tickets now for at least one showing of the Shriners Circus. C. MacF.

Military Notes
The Royal Edmonton Regiment will parade at eight o'clock tonight in the Prince of Wales Armouries.

Battle dress, web belts, berets, and puttees are to be worn.

AFU Votes For Merger With UFA

Tentative Date For Convention In January 1949

Members of the Alberta Farmers' Union have voted overwhelmingly in favor of merging with the United Farmers of Alberta.

Of approximately 12,300 ballots cast in the province-wide plebiscite, 93.44 per cent favored amalgamation. Just 6.56 per cent were opposed.

Final results of the balloting which closed on May 20, were announced today by President Carl J. Stimpfle of the AFU.

The number eligible to vote was about 20,000.

BAD ROADS RETARD VOTE
Bad roads and the extremely late spring prevented a large number from voting.

Decision to take a plebiscite on the merging of the two farm organizations was made at the last annual convention.

The United Farmers of Alberta decided to merge with the AFU by a vote of delegates at the annual convention held here last January.

EXECUTIVES MEET
Already the executives of the two organizations have held a joint meeting to discuss procedure of amalgamation.

A joint convention of the two organizations has been tentatively called for next January at the Palliser Hotel in Calgary.

If hotel accommodation can be obtained the convention will be held the third week in January.

The joint executives will likely meet again before the main convention, Mr. Stimpfle said.

Dutch Impressions Of Canada Are Grim

Believe it or not, people in Holland think that Dutch war brides are having a grim time of it here in Canada. Netherlands believe that they let their daughters marry Canadian soldiers who have taken their wives to a bleak "Home-on-the-Range" living Canadian West.

So The Bulletin was informed Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Buschmann, of Arnheim, Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. Buschmann are visiting their war-bride daughter Connie, wife of ex-soldier David Michaels, 9612 114 avenue.

They arrived in Edmonton April 28.

Although many of their countrymen believe that Canadian Dutch war brides are mistreated and unhappy, the Buschmanns have seen for themselves "how much freer and easier life is here than in Holland."

Living is also much cheaper, they say.

UNIQUE IDEAS

People of Holland have unique ideas about Western Canada. From such bits of North America as the song "Home on the Range" they picture a wide-open West where everyone lives in trailers.

Mr. Buschmann is an accountant with a Dutch agriculture co-operative organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Buschmann have a son who is with the Dutch army in Dutch East Indies.

Their daughter Connie met Dave Michaels while he was serving with Canadian army during Holland's liberation.

Concerning Holland, Mr. Buschmann stated that peace-time conditions have not yet returned.

Rationing is still in effect, and because of the shortage of American dollars a great deal of U.S. goods export is carried on.

SLIM RATINGS

"We get one egg a month and quarter of a pound of butter a week," said Mr. Buschmann.

Tobacco is rationed to three packs per person per week, and each pack costs 85 cents.

Mr. Buschmann, a heavy smoker, grew and cured his own tobacco during the war.

"There was no cigarette paper, and I used all sort of paper to roll my tobacco in," he said.

Asked about his very good English, Mr. Buschmann revealed that all Dutch schoolchildren must learn three foreign languages, English, German and French.

The Buschmanns were allowed to take $15 in American money out of Holland for their trans-Atlantic journey.

Return passage by Dutch transport was bought in Dutch money.

North Floods Under Control

Conditions in the Rossington area, hard hit by flood waters of the Pembina river earlier this spring, were fast returning to normal today.

Strong winds of the last few days are drying up water soaked grounds and most farmers are working the lands.

There is still considerable amount of seeding to be done and hundreds of acres in low-lying areas will not be seeded at all.

Level of the river continued to recede slowly during the last 24 hours and is now considered normal for this time of year.

Crews are working on roads in the district, and traffic is running normally. They believe that no serious damage was caused to the road bed west of Rossington where flood waters covered the highway for more than two weeks.

A crew is also working on a small bridge just west of Rossington, which was shifted out of place by the rampaging waters.

City Octogenarian Is Laid To Rest

Funeral service for Mrs. Emily Gully was held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at St. Mary's church.

Mrs. Gully first came to Edmonton from her native England in 1879 when she was 11 years of age.

She lived here since.

Her husband was Colin Strang who became a councillor in Edmonton, while this settlement was still a village, and who later acted as mayor.

She is survived by one son Robert Andrew Ferns, who is running a business in London, England.

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m.

Funds to get from New York to Edmonton were sent to them by their son-in-law.

They expect to leave here June 1 on a return trip.

When they get back, they intend to tell their friends about Canadian way of life.

They have met several Edmonton Dutch war brides, and will visit their relatives to tell them how their "children" are getting along.

"We will tell them about their children," Mr. Buschmann said.

"And their grandchildren in some cases," he added, beaming.

That includes his own grandchild, little Geoffrey Charles Anthony Michaels, of whom he is very proud.

Prepare Summer Food In Cool of Morning

By Bea Thrifty

Good trick for summer meals is to prepare as much of the fare for the day's meals as you can early in the morning while the day is still cool.

That will help you to appear untroubled and serene comes the time to set hearty food before your family.

Elimination of tax on silver plate means wedding-present shoppers sign a high sign of relief.

Silver—and silver-plate is always a dependable fall-back for the person who just doesn't know-what-to-buy.

Brides-to-be, share this feeling of elation... they can buy a set of community plate in London, Hamilton or one of the other popular patterns for around $85. This includes t-rod forks, butter spreaders, and the usuals.

Something gleaming and useful for the newlyweds is a sparkling new sandwich toaster.

This sells for around $10—and there are some with special heat controls.

These make the most beautiful sandwiches... believe me.

By-the-yard trimming work wonders in the world of fashion. Spruce up a last year's favorite cotton with a whisper of ribbon and a swath of eyelet embroidery.

It's inexpensive—and fairly easy to find.

Frills of eyelid edge necklines, cuffs and make a lengthening petticoat frill around the hemline of a dress.

With a hank of ribbon, a yard of eyelet—you can create a new costume.

More sweet-talk: And we have

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Charm and Beauty Come With Years

How old is Anne? You won't find out from Anne. It is one of the secrets that women keep hidden deep in their hearts.

In a recent post that was made on women's ages only one woman in 20 told the truth. Well, that's all right, that's woman's age in her own business and if she thinks that she looks like a bobby-soxer instead of Grandma, it is her own affair.

In her soul every woman is like the astute lady who said that she had been 29 for ten years and she meant to stay that way.

But the queer thing about women's obsession about remaining perpetual teenagers is that their efforts to sidetrack time mainly runs to hair-dos and lipstick.

Heaven knows that in a world that is full of ugliness we should be choosy about beauty, and we owe a vote of thanks to any woman who is easy on the eyes, no matter how she does it.

Now it is a fine and philanthropic thing for women to make themselves as picturesque as they can and to look as young as they are, but pretty is not as pretty does and, alas, many women fail of attaining perpetual youth because they take the wrong method.

LOOK RIDICULOUS They put their whole faith on looks and their looks betray them, for none of us look as good to others as we look to ourselves.

So we have the millions of elderly women who spend fortunes in beauty shops trying to be made over into Glamour Girls, who dote on the plummy legs in shorts, make elaborate exhibitions of their poundage, and who think they are young and lovely when they are only being silly.

But while there is no way by which a woman can make her age static and remain forever young and beautiful, there is a way by which she can make her birthday an asset instead of a total loss, and that is by being frank and honestly being her age and acting like it.

For the things that attract us in youth bore us as stiff when we come to the years of discretion. The antics of a baby or a puppy are cute and amusing for an hour, but heaven help us if we had to watch them for a day.

And there is a beauty of age that is even more appealing than that of youth, because it has intelligence and character behind it. Many a homely girl develops into a woman so fascinating and interesting to be with that nobody ever gives a second thought to whether she has a Grecian profile and a willowy figure or not.

Many old women are far more popular and more sought after when they are 70 than they were at 17, because age has made them wise and tolerant and kind and people go to them when they are in trouble as to a shrine to be blessed and comforted.

The women who spend their lives trying to keep young waste their efforts. In the first place, it can't be done and, in the second place, it is not the thing in women that we really want. We want intelligence.

We want sweetness. We want humor. We want loyalty. And there are not the virtues of extreme youth. It takes time to ripen character. And that is why so many men, who are big catches, marry middle-aged women, instead of little girls.

So Anne doesn't need to worry over her birthdays. They are her best bet.

Poor Posture Due To Weak Muscles

By Josephine Lowman

When poor posture is present many muscles which should hold the body correctly are actually stretched and weakened so that they are not able to do their work.

Often fatigue is due to muscle weakness and poor posture cannot be remedied until these muscles are strengthened through exercise.

The following series of exercises is fine for correcting weak back muscles and round shoulders and dowager's hump and they also give the abdominal muscles a good stretching.

1. Lie on the floor on your tummy with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor in front of you. Raise your arms, trunk and legs, off the floor. The head is raised at the same time. In other words, you arch your back.

Do not bend your knees! Hold for a few seconds and return to starting position. You may not be able to go very far off the floor at first but practice will increase your ability.

2. Take the same starting position described in exercise No. 1. Ask someone to hold your feet down against the floor. This time raise your arms, head and trunk upward as far as possible while your feet remain on the floor. Hold a few moments and return to starting position.

3. This is the most difficult exercise of the three. Lie across a chair, with your abdomen resting on the seat of the chair. Raise your arms, head, trunk and legs upward, until you are in a straight line. Ask someone to hold your feet. Relax and repeat.

Begin with exercise No. 1 and gradually work up to the last one. Do the exercise only a few times the first day and increase as you can.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Time and Opportunity End Behaviour Problem

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

This seems to be a week for philosophical conclusions by mothers of experience. Mrs. C. E. W. says that during her lifetime she has encountered young mothers who seem to "anguish" over behavior that older mothers know to be of passing moment only.

"These conscientious mothers really suffer," she writes, "and they might be comforted if they could be counselled to take a long-time view of their children's lives and deportment, instead of concentrating on each annoying trait as it develops."

"A neighbor of mine used to weep because her boy of ten still wet the bed. I said to her, 'My dear, do you know any group of men who wet the bed?' She knew of none. So she stopped worrying."

"A mother once wrote to me bemoaning the fact that her sweet little daughter might grow up to be a murderer. She insisted on half-strangling her beloved cat when she squirmed it."

"As everyone knows children do go through phases of biding, biding, taking things which do not belong to them. I'll bet any number of mothers could remember trudging back to the grocery after they discovered a soggy cranberry or what have you—in the child's mouth—a cranberry eaten from the grocer's."

"It would seem that good sense should help a mother to recognize these as passing phases of normal behavior and to concentrate on long-range habits. It has been my experience that the less attention paid to some of these little quirks, the sooner they are forgotten."

This principle is a good one—with reservations. It might be better, with the bed-wetting child after telling him why such behavior is undesirable to concentrate on hauling up the causes of WHY he would have to act this way.

Much behavior is outgrown with nothing done about it. But a longtime bed-wetting habit, indicative of lack of self-confidence, perhaps a desire to aggravate the parent for reasons of revenge or fear of losing a position as a dependent in the family. It is the parent who should know the reasons for such behavior and without impressing her knowledge or her fears on the child, work to change or remove them.

So one might say, in some general way, that the developmental character of behavior should be known and then the parents be willing to give time and opportunity to end it, before embarking on a hunt for causes behind it.
